Life in Ink

Rich Berry

Rich Berry has been involved with the arts for almost 50 years. Although, it has always been in the audio arts. Rich has been a musician since he was 16. He decided in June of 2011 to try his hands at visual arts, and took to pen and ink immediately. Into his second year as an artist he took best of show 2D for his participation in The Sunflower Art Fair in Desoto, KS. Dick Blick has also used his colored pencil art in their advertising in Artist and Drawing Magazine. Rich's art reflects his passion for landscapes, cityscapes, vintage rusty cars, and anything that catches his eye.

Marian Jenkins

Marian Jenkins (formerly Crook) is a traditional pen-and-ink artist based in Kansas City whose work centers on stippling and linework. With over 10 years of drawing experience, she creates nature-inspired pieces that explore transformation, connection, and the relationship between people and the environment.

While studying at Wichita State University, Jenkins developed a passion for drawing and pursued formal art training to refine her technical practice. Her work earned first place in the Project Runaway wearable art competition in 2016 and first place in the drawing category of the Elements Competition in 2017, leading to her first group exhibition at ShiftSpace and a feature in a student-run publication. In 2018, Jenkins presented her first solo exhibition, Flower Moves, at the Wilson K. Cadman Art Gallery, featuring botanical imagery and themes of time and transformation.

After relocating to Chicago, she earned a Bachelor's degree in Psychology through Fort Hays State University, further deepening her interest in human connection and perception. She founded The Overgrowth Co. in the spring of 2024 and continues to create work that encourages environmental awareness, personal growth and shared connection through art.
